Anniversary for Animals

The Humane Society of the United States is turning 60 in November! For the past 6 decades, The HSUS has made the world a better place for many animals. They've worked to close down puppy mills, make conditions better for farm animals, stop the seal hunt, encourage people to spay and neuter their pets, stop the killing of elephants for their ivory and sharks for their fins, free chimpanzees from labs and so much more!

But there is still more to do to help animals. In the space below, write a narrative of what the world should look like for all animals in the next 60 years. Use your imagination!
