1. Registration Number: 51-R-0032

2/3. Species (common name) & Number of animals used in this study:

Guinea Pigs (32)

4. Explain the procedure producing pain and/or distress.

Plucking Guinea pig hair. This procedure takes about two minutes per Guinea pig.

5. Provide scientific justification why pain and/or distress could not be relieved. State methods or means used to determine that pain and/or distress relief would interfere with test results. (For Federally mandated testing, see Item 6 below)

Immunosuppression as a result of anesthesia is a well-documented phenomenon, and can last up to 7 days. As the aim of the study is to look for an immune response, this is unacceptable. Specifically, we cannot use ketamine or xylazine, as these anesthetics have been shown to interfere with the immune system function. Literature citations show that immune function is decreased for several days following anesthesia.

6. What, if any, federal regulations require this procedure? Cite the agency, the code of Federal Regulations (CFR) title number and the specific section number (e.g., APHIS, 9 CFR 113.102):
