

Kangaroos can't hop backward.

California shouldn't either.

In 1970, a state law signed by Gov. Ronald Reagan set a precedent by banning kangaroo skin products to protect these creatures from extinction. Still today, kangaroos are “spotlighted” from trucks and hunted at night in the Australian outback, and baby joeys are pulled from their mothers' pouches and killed. Now Adidas and other special interests are trying to repeal the law so they can import items like kangaroo leather soccer shoes. Kangaroos may not live on our continent, but they live on our Earth. Let's continue to protect them and keep California moving forward.

Call 916-445-2841 and tell Gov. Arnold Schwarzenegger to veto Senate Bill 880.
